

Plenty of fun at Riverfest

CAMPBELLTOWN'S colourful characters, environment and cultural diversity were all on display at Riverfest on Sunday.

A crowd of about 3000 filtered in and out of Koshigaya Park for the annual festival which was focused on singers and performers.

The day also highlighted the environment and sustainable living.

Stalls included Macarthur Diversity Services, Macarthur

Greens, Macarthur Beekeepers' Association, Ingleburn Horticultural Society, along with multicultural performers and food from around the world.

A highlight was the Dry Riverbed Boat Race. But it wasn't held in its usual location of Fisher's Ghost Creek because rain had actually inundated the site, so it was held in the park itself.
